

Zunic Success Story:

“Like Magic”

Featuring
Joey Plazo

Joey Plazo was all set for his first job just a few months after graduating in April 1999. Eager to learn and accomplish as much, as he could, he didn't mind the overtime and late nights much until he noticed his gut getting bigger from wolfing down his favorite quick dinner fix—two large quarter-pound burgers—almost every night for two weeks in a row.

“When you're working so much, you tend to overcompensate with food. I guess that's what I did. I de-stressed by pigging out,” Joey admits. “When I realized that my gut was already spilling over my pants, I knew something had to be done.”

Within a few days, he applied for gym membership and began to include workouts to his weekly regimen. He also gave diet pills a try—and ended up confined in the hospital. After this disastrous turn of events, Joey decided to just stick with his gym program. Slowly, he began to lose weight, but there were still those stubborn areas which he couldn't entirely tone, like his tummy, no matter how many ab exercises he did. So when he learned during late 2006 that a reportedly very effective slimming treatment was being offered by a popular center, he signed up for it even if it was expensive. After undergoing four, whole-day slimming treatments, he had lost no weight, no inches, and a lot of money. “I must've wasted about P250,000 on those ineffective treatments,” he recalls ruefully.

That's why when Joey saw Zunic's ad in the newspaper, he was skeptical. This time, he did some research first and upon finding zero negative feedback about Zunic on the net, he called up the Timog branch for an appointment just to check it out.

During the course of his Zunic consultation, he was first given a thorough assessment before a customized program based on his personal goals was recommended, and his consultant also suggested that he undergo an actual Zunic treatment, for free, so he could see the results for himself. Contourage™ was applied to half of his all-time problem spot, the tummy area, while the other half was left untouched. A few minutes later, he was brought a mirror and he was amazed to see that the Contouraged part of his stomach had become visibly more toned! “I became a Zunic believer on the spot. It worked like magic! I scheduled my next visit right then so I could start my program immediately,” Joey recounts.

It may seem like supernatural forces are at work, but Zunic uses only science behind its breakthrough treatments. Utilizing new technologies developed by research groups at NASA and the Mayo Clinic, Zunic's Slimming and Body Sculpting Method™ facilitates the acceleration of slow metabolisms and melts away layers of fat beneath the skin faster, safer, and with minimum fuss. And since all procedures are done using advanced state-of-the-art equipment while supervised by highly-qualified medical staff, the result is safe, painless and effective weight reduction, with visible and measurable results in as little as 45 minutes—without the need for diets, exercise, pills, injections or surgery.

After Joey's initial program, which consisted of Contourage™, Metabolique™ and AccuTone™, his 150-pound frame trimmed down to 138, and he now wears slim-fitting size 30 slacks in lieu of his old 34-inch pants. Completely pleased with his Zunic experience, he went on to purchase a package for his girlfriend and has even referred Zunic to one of his best buddies. Most of all, months after his program ended, Joey still visits Zunic Timog regularly, coming in from time to time for weight maintenance to further complement his gym workouts.

What started out as a simple trial appointment turned out to be an almost-magical experience for Joey.
